

Linda Vera Roethlisberger was born in 1956 in Bern. After graduating from the Pädagogische Hochschule in Bern (a teachers college), she worked as a teacher and then studied French at the Sorbonne and painting at the Paris Académie Port Royal. A key experience she had in 1984 then led her to a new life path. She explored, trained and developed her mediumistic skills with Silvia Wallimann (Switzerland), Dr. Milan Ryzl (USA) and Gordon Higginson (UK). Her knowledge is based on philosophy, psychology and pedagogy and on her profound knowledge of fringe science.

As part of her new life path, Linda Vera Roethlisberger organized and held seminars, which were met with great success. This motivated her to, in 1990, found TRILOGOS, an independent institute for personality and consciousness training in Küsnacht near Zurich. Now, after more than 20 years of practice and experimentation as a medium and life school teacher and the publication of numerous publications, Linda Vera Roethlisberger is making her spiritual knowledge available to all those interested as a self-guided course and is offering us deep insight into her method and lifework. The course makes it possible to, in self-study, unfold our PsyQ, our psychic dispositions, from the ground up and to acquire the Trilogos®Method developed by Ms. Roethlisberger in theory and practice. The training shows how we can train our own perception, intuition and mediality and recognize and use our potential.

TRILOGOS Foundation

In 2012, Linda Vera Roethlisberger founded the non-profit TRILOGOS®Foundation, recognizing that the personality formation and development of an individual not only plays a key role for his or her personal well-being but also contributes to societal development. The mission of the Foundation is to contribute to our human competence, to the quality of our relationships with others and with the Earth, and ultimately to the realization of our Self so that it can unfold in harmony with the world around us. The Foundation is in the service of a global ethic and world peace and pursues the formation of conscience as well as the quest of finding meaning and values for the individual.

The TRILOGOS Foundation sees itself as a research, education, discussion and exchange platform for people interested in holistic and new life concepts. Its goal is to support humans in being human, in other words, in their humanness.

TRILOGOS sees itself as a non-profit competence center for the active promotion of humanness and the increase of our quality of life at both the psychic and physical levels. With clearly defined projects, people develop their personality in a lasting way and give back to the world on an as-needed as well as interfaith and intercultural basis. All proceeds from the sale of Linda Roethlisberger's course are invested back into the Foundation.
